CLINICAL PRACTICE, INTERESTS, AND ACCOMPLISHMENTS:

I have spent initial 15 years of my practice as an Internal Medicine Physician in various roles including outpatient clinic, acute inpatient practice, sub-acute care facilities including LTAC, inpatient rehabilitation, skilled nursing home and residential facilities. This has given me an opportunity to manage patients in various stages of their illness. This has also exposed me to collaborative activity with various medical specialties, to work in a multidisciplinary team and understand the diverse roles of physicians, nursing and other clinical providers. This has enabled me to recognize the importance of primary care physician in the overall health maintenance, care coordination and preventative aspects of medicine.

I have developed an interest in the fields of Wound Care, Hyperbaric Medicine and Sleep Medicine and have worked closely with the respective practitioners and achieved board certification through practice pathway in both these fields. Since 2012 I have mainly pursued work in wound care/sleep medicine. Both these fields have seen tremendous growth and exciting developments in the recent years leading to the better understanding and management of these diseases. There is an increasing recognition of chronic wound care as a separate and specific disease management entity necessitating development of appropriate delivery systems specialized for wound care management. I'm excited to be part of current Wound care delivery transformation.
